ALLIANCE AIRLINES ACQUIRES FOUR ADDITIONAL AIRCRAFT FOR FLY-IN, FLY-OUT SERVICES

Alliance Airlines, the leading provider of “fly-in, fly-out” (FIFO) air services for Australia’s resources industry, today announced the acquisition of four additional aircraft. Two of these aircraft are 100-seat Fokker F100 twinjets and the remaining two, which are new to Australia, are 70-seat Fokker F70 Long Range jets (F70LR).

The F70LR can fly nonstop from all major regional centres and capital cities on the eastern seaboard to Western Australian mine sites. The additional aircraft, the first of which arrived in Australia over the weekend, are being introduced specifically to support the rapid expansion currently being experienced by the resources industry.

As an example, the long range capability of the Fokker F70LR will enable the delivery of a high quality FIFO product from the east coast direct to Western Australian mine sites, avoiding the additional cost, longer journey times and peak-period congestion at Perth Airport.

Brisbane-based Alliance has already reached agreement with one major customer to operate Fokker F70LRs nonstop from the east coast into a mine site in Western Australia’s northwest, and is in discussions with other companies. The airline also has plans to use the aircraft for a range of other tasks on the eastern seaboard.

“The decision to buy the Fokker F70LR aircraft was made after a review of the operating capabilities of a number of aircraft types,” said Scott McMillan, Managing Director of Alliance Airlines.

“The capabilities of the F70LR and the ability to easily integrate the aircraft into our existing fleet made the F70LR a natural choice,” he said.

“These fleet additions provide a significant enhancement to Alliance Airlines’ capability to provide customised and efficient FIFO solutions.”

The delivery of the additional aircraft, the Alliance fleet will comprise 18 100-seat Fokker F100 and two 75-seat Fokker F70LR jets and five 50-seat Fokker F50 turboprops. The airline operates from bases in Brisbane, Townsville, Adelaide, Perth and Cairns.

The European Union and its Member States on an India wide road show

New Delhi, 09 June 2011: The European Union and its Member States will be on an India wide road show to present opportunities they can offer for cooperation in research and innovation. Aiming at reach out to Indian researchers, the road show will include information seminars in 27 cities in the Indian subcontinent. The campaign, from 13 - 24 June 2011, will also showcase the flagship scheme of EU - the 7th Research Framework Program (FP7) - which is open to the participation of researchers and companies from all over the world, including India. The FP7 (2007-2013) has so far already funded 127 projects with Indian participation and has involved 218 Indian research institutions.

The road show will create awareness on the EU's upcoming initiatives (calls for proposals), under FP7, inviting bids from research organisations, universities and industry as well as SMEs forming consortia of partners from Europe and across the world including India. This EU initiative (call for proposals), worth € 8 billion will cover a vast range of scientific disciplines, public policy areas and sectors such as water, climate change, energy and food security, health and ageing population.

"International cooperation has become a vital part of research and innovation, bringing Europe's and India's best research and researchers together, wherever possible. It is also an important element of EU-India strategic partnership," said Ambassador

Danièle Smadja, Head of the Delegation of the European Union to India. "With this campaign we are showing that Europeans can join forces for rising to the challenges of such a large country as India and have actually a real offer to make a contribution to mutual growth in research and innovation," she added.

The campaign will mobilise 26 Science & Technology Counselors and representatives of research organisations from Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Italy, The Netherlands, Poland, Spain, the United Kingdom, as well as from the Delegation of the European Union, the European Business and Technology Centre (EBTC), and the European Research Council to make presentations in key research and innovation hot spots in India. A compendium of European (EU and Member States) mobility schemes for Indian researchers and students interested in going to Europe will also be available.

England Women beat Australia to win the NatWest Women's Quadrangular T20 Series.

England women maintained their 100 percent record as they beat Australia by 16 runs in the Final of the NatWest Women's Quadrangular T20 Series at

The Rose Bowl today

Charlotte Edwards (21) once again opened the batting with Laura Marsh looking to continue England's attacking form from the first ball. However the pair both suffered to the hands of Lisa Sthalekar who first ran out Marsh and then took the wicket of Edwards who was caught in the deep by Jessica Cameron, leaving England on 42-2.

Despite later being reduced to 76-5 after losing a cluster of wickets in the middle order, England rebuilt their innings through Lydia Greenway and Arran Brindle.

Player of the match Lydia Greenway was particularly impressive, striking five fours on her way to 48, her highest score in the format as England set a total of 132 for nine. The hosts quickly found their stride in the field and disciplined bowling meant Australia never threatened to chase down the total.

Player of the Series Holly Colvin was the pick of the attack, with 2-16 from four overs and although Alex Blackwell and Lisa Sthalekar put on a 72-run partnership for the fifth wicket, Australia were always behind the run-rate as they finished on 116 for eight.

Charlotte Edwards said: "It's been a great day, I'm really proud of the team, we've all worked hard for this. We have a great mix of players in the squad at the moment, some of the youngsters are really stepping up to the mark and everyone has contributed to the success.

"It's been fantastic to play in front of such good crowds during the series the players enjoy it and it's great for the profile of the women's game.

"We won't be resting on our laurels as we move into the 50-over series, but we will take this momentum with us."

Earlier in the day India beat New Zealand by three wickets in the play off match for third and fourth place in at The Army Cricket Ground, Aldershot.

All teams now travel to Derby for the 50-over format of the NatWest Women's Quadrangular Series which starts on Thursday. In the first matches England will play India at The County Ground Derby and Australia will face New Zealand at Chesterfield Cricket Club.

Highlights of all England's matches in the NatWest Women's Quadrangular Series can be found at www.ecb.co.uk along with interviews with player of the match, player of the series and England and Australia captains.

TOURISM TO TURN NEPAL'S POLITICAL REVOLUTION INTO AN ECONOMIC ONE

The Nepalese government is depending on tourism to drive economic prosperity and continued political stability. However, Nepal's ambitious tourism goals are being stymied by stay-away low cost carriers

BANGKOK, June 22, 2011 Nepal is leveraging its tourism assets to turn its political revolution of 2005-2008 into an economic one in 2011. According to PATA, Nepal Tourism Year 2011 has so far seen foreign visitor arrivals by air increase by 18.4% to reach 168,958 for the first five months of the year.

The country is nominally on target to reach its goal of one million visitors this year, a figure that includes both air arrivals and land-based visitors, mostly from India.

The government is promoting tourism to bring a measure of prosperity and continued political stability in a country that ranks in the 20 poorest in the world. Unity is a challenge. The country has 28 million people, a poor transport infrastructure, 103 ethnic groups and 92 spoken languages. Twenty-two out of 75 local government districts aren't linked to the capital by road.

Representatives of the Nepal Tourism Board and the country's hotels and tour operators last week told travel agents in Singapore, Johor Bahru and Bangkok that Nepal's tourism industry needs low cost carriers such as Air Asia to start flying to Kathmandu.

"Airlines to Kathmandu from Southeast Asia are a little expensive," said Mr Sunil Sakya, Vice President of KGH Group of Hotels in Nepal. "A low cost carrier would bring a real paradigm shift," he said.

A tour operator at the Nepal event in Bangkok on June 16 noted that Southeast Asian tourists expect their holiday destinations to have political stability and competitively priced air tickets. Only 25,000 Thais visited Nepal in 2010, despite the close Buddhist pilgrimage links between the two countries. "It should be three-times that number," said Sunil.

Adventure tourism activities such as para gliding, flying in ultralites, white water rafting and mountain biking are now being heavily promoted, especially in Pokhara, the adventure capital of Nepal. The aim is to attract younger urban residents in big Southeast Asian cities who want an adrenalin fix in a wild 'back to nature' setting. On the other side of the coin, gambling is available in seven hotels in Kathmandu.

Nepal Airlines, THAI, Silk Air and Dragon Air offer a total of 25 flights a week into Nepal from Southeast Asia. Ms Ujjwala Dali, Nepal Tourism Board's Senior Manager for Tourism Marketing, told travel agents in Bangkok that the destination needs more than that if the country is to reach its tourism targets.

"I hope that Air Asia will start flying to Kathmandu within a year," she said.

Nepal Tourism Board is a national organization established in 1998 by an act of parliament in the form of partnership between Government of Nepal, and private sector tourism industries of Nepal to develop and market Nepal as an attractive tourist destination. The Board provides platform for vision-drawn leadership for Nepal's tourism section by integrating government commitment with the dynamism of private sector tourism industries.

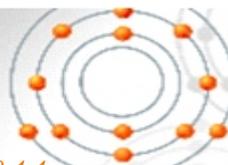

NTB is promoting Nepal in the domestic and international market and is working toward repositioning the image of the country. It aims to regulate product development activities in future. Fund for NTB is collected in the form of Tourist Service Fee from departing foreigner passengers at the Tribhuvan International Airport, Kathmandu thus keeping it financially independent. The Board chaired by a Secretary at Ministry of Culture, Tourism and Civil Aviation constitutes of 11 board members with Five government representatives, Five private sector representatives and the chief executive officer.

THE GRAND PLACE SUITE

The incomparable luxury of a unique panoramic view over the Grand Place in Brussels

Staying in a hotel is in itself a holiday but can prove to be a truly exceptional experience at a luxury hotel boasting an exclusive view of one of the world's most celebrated locations

A rare view indeed and one the Royal Windsor Hotel Grand Place can now pride itself on in Europe's capital city: the brand new "The Grand Place Suite" with its 180° panoramic vista over the Grand Place of Brussels and the city's rooftops breathtaking!

The Grand Place Suite, pure Magic. Inside and out True luxury is one of a kind and this is certainly the case with "The Grand Place Suite", recently unveiled by the Royal Windsor Hotel after a two year construction project involving exceptional talent at every stage. May 2011: grand opening of a spacious penthouse suite with a measuring a total of 400 square metres.

The most magical of suites now crowns the Royal Windsor Hotel Grand Place.

The Grand Place Suite is one of those places that simply exude luxury through their sublime elegance and the ultra-glamorous lifestyle they afford. This kind of luxury is immediately visible, but above all it is felt. The suite has its own private access, almost secret, but bathed in day light flooding in through skylight windows. The velvety carpet has a soft, soothing feel, enhancing the aura of mystery, and when the double doors open, the effect is instantaneous. Unprecedented opulence.

The Grand Place Suite is revealed in all its glory, no longer a mere suite, but like a private residence where guests know they will be treated like royalty. Moving through the spacious living and dining areas, the panoramic terrace beckons, and guests are irresistibly drawn through the large bay window to admire the bronze sculptures and most of all, the incredible view over the heart of Brussels. Imposing in the daytime, at night the spectacle becomes truly entrancing with the Grand Place lit up in all its beauty.

Let us continue our tour ... the office, bedroom, dressing room, bathroom, kitchen and dining area feature myriad subtle nuances of character, charm and exclusivity. Unashamed luxury! Tasteful choices with high quality materials, and beyond this, a feeling of intimacy. Almost like a secret, since The Grand Place Suite is indeed a demonstration of the personal attachment felt by owner and Chairman of the Warwick International Hotels Group, Richard Chiu, and of his wife, Ann, for this hotel and the city of Brussels. The design details and decor of each room were selected in very close consultation with Louis Vanheusden, Regional General Manager for Belgium also in charge of the Royal Windsor Hotel Grand Place.

Exquisite panelling and Art Deco antiques in polished and rare woods coordinate perfectly with the refined elegance of the fabrics, carpets and wall coverings. Everything, from the lighting to the decorative pieces, from the sumptuous black marble to the exquisite mosaic tiles in the bathroom, from the shimmering Murano glassware to the ethereal pleasure of a goose down duvet, from stylish saddle-stitching to elegant gilt finishes, everything radiates elegance and aspires to absolute comfort. Do we really need to add that The Grand Place Suite also boasts state of the art, new generation equipment ... no, it goes without saying. Prestige and a noble reputation Set in a perfect location in the heart of Brussels, the Royal Windsor Hotel Grand Place has for decades attracted travellers smitten with these much treasured hotels promoting the values of the hotel business in the grand tradition. The Grand Place Suite is indeed part of this spirit and only confirms the international reputation of the Royal Windsor Hotel.
