Khiri Travel To Open in Myanmar

BANGKOK, 27 July 2011 The Khiri Travel Group has announced further expansion with an office in Myanmar headed by Mr Edwin Briels as General Manager.

The new office opens in Yangon in August 2011. Khiri Travel, founded in 1994, currently has seven offices operational in Thailand, Cambodia, Vietnam and Laos.

Khiri Travel Group CEO and co-founder, Mr Willem Niemeijer, said that the timing was right for the Myanmar move. "It is important to have the right people in place, so we can deliver the high quality travel experiences that our clients are used to in Myanmar, right from the start," he said.

"In Edwin, we have a highly experienced Myanmar operator. People around the world are also starting to look at Myanmar with fresh eyes. The time is right," he said.

Briels, a Dutch national, has six years' working experience in Myanmar. He joins Khiri Travel from Air Mandalay and previously worked for Exotissimo Travel in Myanmar as well as Balloons over Bagan. Between 2007 and 2010 Briels was general manager of Exotissimo Thailand.

In 2006 Briels was project manager for the construction of Malikha lodge, a luxury eight-villa property in the remote Putao valley of northern Myanmar. The lodge looks out over the snow capped mountains of the eastern Himalayas.

"Khiri Myanmar will open with many innovative travel offerings from around the fringes of the country," said Briels.

"Thibaw and Kyaukme in Northern Shan State, the wonderful southern Shan State, Mrauk U, and the Rakhine Mountains will all be available as well as favourites such as Bagan, Mandalay and Inle. Being Khiri, our approach will be to deliver an innovative and responsible take on each place."

For example, a visit to Shwedagon Pagoda in Yangon with Khiri Myanmar also involves a traditional breakfast, strolling and shopping in the lively market in the small alleys around the pagoda, and Buddhist offerings by the clients in the pagoda itself. A native antique connoisseur is available to give his insights on colonial residences in Pyin Oo Lwin. Khiri's guests may find themselves entering local markets through the back door so they can experience the real Myanmar among the local people.

"Better facilities and infrastructure in the country means that it is easier to visit more places," said Briels. "It's a very exciting time to be launching new travel experiences for our clients."

Khiri Travel, through its charitable arm, Khiri Reach, supports several community initiatives across the four countries where it currently operates. Khiri Reach will soon announce help for a community cause in Myanmar.

For Myanmar, innovative itineraries and travel options are already available. Visit www.khiri.com, email myanmar@khiri.com.

CADDY FOR A CURE ANNOUNCES OPPORTUNITY WITH LPGA SUPERSTARS NATALIE GULBIS, PAULA CREAMER AND BRITTANY LINCICOME AT THE SAFEWAY CLASSIC

Alpha Broadcasting Helps Promote Unique Opportunity To Be Inside the Ropes for a Day for Charity

Coral Springs, FL, Caddy For A Cure, Inc., The professional golf opportunity of a lifetime to go inside the ropes and caddy for a day, is offering another LPGA opportunity for THREE of the biggest superstars in women's golf, Natalie Gulbis, Paula Creamer, and Brittany Lincicome. The caddy opportunities will be on Thursday, August 18th during the Kraft Pro-Am round preceding competition at the SAFEWAY CLASSIC presented by Coca Cola. The tournament is being played at the Pumpkin Ridge Golf Club in North Plains, Oregon just outside of Portland.

Caddy For A Cure offers PGA TOUR and LPGA Tour caddy opportunities through its website (www.caddyforacure.com) and linked auctions. 100% of auction proceeds are donated to charity. For the SAFEWAY CLASSIC, funds will be directed to the LPGA Foundation in support of the USGA-Girls Golf program, the Safeway Foundation, each player's charity of choice and the Fanconi Anemia Research Fund. "We are thrilled to participate again with this unique program that directly supports the charitable mission of the LPGA tournaments," states Gail Graham, retired LPGA professional and president of the LPGA Tournament Owners Association. "We are always looking for ways to get closer to our fans and this is a perfect and unique way to accomplish that, particularly with players as popular as Natalie, Paula and Brittany. This tournament is always exciting, so it's a great venue for participating with Caddy For A Cure."

Russ Holden, Caddy For A Cure founder and veteran PGA TOUR caddy added, "It is such an honor to be offering these opportunities with three of the biggest names in women's golf. We launched our program with the LPGA last year and had a great experience. All three of these players are not only known for their stellar play throughout their careers, but are also three of the biggest fan favorites in all of golf." He continued, "Also great about these opportunities is that they are being co-ordinated with one of the tournament's presenting media partners, Alpha Broadcasting, who owns 6 radio properties in Portland and a statewide network reaching 18 markets outside of Portland. Alpha Broadcasting is promoting these exciting opportunities through their station Sportsradio 95.5FM, The Game (www.955thegame.com/pages/7832921.php). They will also be doing a live broadcast on the John Canzano Show during the practice round." He concluded, "We always look forward to providing our caddy participants with experiences they will never forget, and these opportunities with Natalie, Paula and Brittany at the SAFEWAY CLASSIC will be just that. It's a great way for fans to make a difference in the lives of many people who really need it through the great game of golf."

WORLD TRAVEL AWARDS

WORLD TRAVEL AWARDS HIGHLIGHTS IMPORTANCE OF TRAVEL & TOURISM IN ALLEVIATING EUROPE'S DEBT CRISIS

World Travel Awards has emphasised the vital role of travel and tourism in re-establishing macro-economic stability across Europe.

The leading awards programme, hailed as the 'Oscars of the travel industry' by The Wall Street Journal, cited the example of Greece and how its tourism economy is enjoying double-digit growth despite the on-going debt crisis. It noted that tourism in Greece makes up 18 percent of the economy, accounting for one in five jobs.

The announcement comes ahead of the forthcoming World Travel Awards 2011 Europe Ceremony, which will see the leading travel and tourism brands from across the Continent compete for the most influential accolade in travel.

The glittering ceremony returns to Turkey's tourism jewel of Antalya for the second year running, and takes place at the luxury Cornelia Diamond Golf Resort & Spa on 2 September 2011.

After months of intense voting, Europe's travel leaders will find out who will win the prestigious World Travel Awards. Nominees include some of the most respected names in travel including British Airways, Ritz Carlton, Conrad Hotels, Orient Express, Europcar and Lufthansa.

Graham E. Cooke, President and Founder, World Travel Awards, underlined why travel and tourism is playing an even greater role as renewed debt fears sweep across Europe.

He said: "During times of economic uncertainty world-class brands come into their own, continuing to grow market share and raising their standards to new heights. World Travel Awards winners see struggle not as sign of weakness, but as an opportunity for growth and renewal, and a chance to put their business model through the ultimate test."

"Turkey has proven one of the tourism miracles of the global downturn, and hosting our Europe Ceremony will provide an excellent opportunity for the top decision-makers in European travel to experience its world-class facilities first hand."

More than 2,000 companies across Europe, spanning more than 250 categories, including airlines, cruise companies, destinations, hotels and resorts will battle it out for the coveted trophies.

Hosting a World Travel Awards event delivers a number of benefits for the host, including a year-long campaign of promotion to both the trade and public. Meanwhile organisations that make it on to the winners' podium receive extensive commercial benefits and global coverage.

With the cream of European travel set to attend, the ceremony also offers excellent opportunities for high-level networking.

The Europe Ceremony marks the second heat of World Travel Awards 2011 Grand Tour, and follows the opening leg in the Middle East, hosted at Armani Hotel Dubai in May. Other regional legs will follow in Sharm El Sheikh, Egypt; Bangkok, Thailand and Montego Bay, Jamaica. These winners will progress to the grand final in Doha, Qatar.

The event partners include Cornelia Diamond Golf Resort & Spa, Tourism Authority of Thailand, Jamaica Tourist Board, Mauritius Tourist Board, Conrad Hotels, World.mobi, Armani Hotel Dubai, Emaar Hospitality Group, Dusit Thani Bangkok, Sandals Resorts, Sports Authority of Thailand, Savoy Sharm el Sheikh and WeClickMedia. The media partners include ABTA Magazine, eTurboNews, Focus on Travel News, Travel DailyNews, Agenzia di Viaggi, Breaking Travel News and National Geographic Traveller

London burns as rioters & looters LOOTING & VIOLENCE HITS UK BIRMINGHAM CITY CENTER

Violence and looting breaks out across London - as unrest also hits Birmingham, Bristol and Liverpool. More than 1,700 extra police officers were deployed across the capital overnight as violent scenes broke out.

Officers have ordered all London football clubs to call off matches as disorder spreads.

In Birmingham, several premises were attacked, shop windows smashed and property stolen in various locations.

West Midlands Police said officers had made a number of arrests. Police patrols were being stepped up across the capital to try to prevent further unrest after rioting and looting in several parts of London over the weekend. Shops were attacked, cars and bins were set alight, and contents from the bins were used as missiles by the offenders.
